BODY FOUND

Search for V.G. Siddhartha, Founder of Cafe Coffee Day, ends; deemed suicide

Mangaluru, July 31- The body of V.G. Siddhartha, Founder of India's largest coffee chain Cafe Coffee Day, was found this morning near Nethravathi River in Mangaluru.

Siddhartha, who is the son-in-law of former Karnataka Chief Minister and BJP leader S.M. Krishna, had been missing since Monday evening. The body was found on the banks of Nethravathi, close to an ice plant at Hoige Bazar, over 9 kms from the Nethravathi Bridge from where Siddhartha went missing.

Reports from Mangaluru said that a fisherman named Ritesh on a trawler boat found the body when he cast his net into the waters. The Dakshina Kannada Police, yesterday morning, had launched a massive search in an attempt to find Siddhartha's body, suspecting he committed suicide as his phone location was close to the Nethravathi Bridge that connects Mangaluru and Kasargod in Kerala.

V.G. Siddhartha

Police and the Dakshina Kannada Administration were probing multiple angles to the disappearance but the suicide angle emerged stronger as hours passed and this morning, their worst fears were confirmed when the body was discovered. Since the Police had informed fishermen to keep an eye out, Ritesh suspected that the body could have been Siddhartha's and immediately informed a local resident Ashwath, who subsequently intimated the local Corporator and the Police.

Banks can drive anyone to despair: Vijay Mallya

Bengaluru, July 31- Many entrepreneurs, industry experts and politicians took to social media to offer condolences over Siddhartha's "untimely" death. Reacting to the demise of Siddhartha, businessman Vijay Mallya empathised with Siddhartha's letter saying that Indian 'Government and banks can drive anyone to despair.' He gave his own example and called Indian financial institutions as 'vicious and unrelenting.'

Cross-cultural cuisine

Both food preparations (dishes in thousands marked by awesome diversity) and manner of cooking (cuisine) them used to be closely linked to specific cultures and geographic regions. Cuisines used to be primarily dictated by the ingredients readily available locally in respective regions across the world. These time-honoured features are history in our times, thanks to cross-cultural mix-up facilitated by ease and speed of travel as well as unhindered trade between regions irrespective of distance separating them. Mysuru, noted for the slow pace of life by its residents until not too long past characterised by steadfast clutching to traditions and customs, particularly in the matter of food consumption as well as cuisine, has welcomed into its belly as it were dishes that are served in eateries virtually in any region globally. One can observe this food-related metamorphosis in greater force in the country's mega cities, nearest such location to Mysuru being the State's capital Bengaluru. Mysureans in their eighties and nineties can vouch that dishes such as bhelpuri and paavbhaji were nowhere in their food radar during their early life.

Food consumption as a heritage in hiding and also a legacy of centuries vintage may have stood the test of time in rural regions across the country even to this day. While urban spaces, including cities of the kind of Mysuru may have taken the brunt of cross cultural contamination resulting in a flood of exotic foods, dishes such as Masaala Dosa, Mysore Pak and so on still hold their sway on those who patronise the time-honoured delicacies.

In addition to the factors of region and culture sustained by the people of specific regions, the factor of generation impacts favouring or disfavouring foods and cuisines over time. In this backdrop, the millennials, also known as generation Y, the demographic cohort following generation X and preceding generation Z are the force behind the fast changing food habits, as is extensively happening in Mysuru. Both the central business districts and the many residential layouts as well as extensions are increasingly hosting restaurants offering dishes associated with virtually all parts of the country in addition to exotic dishes, among which the Italian specialties such as pizza and pastas stand out.

Taste seems to rule the choice of dishes and eateries offering them over other factors, particularly the long-term impact on health, not to forget the factor of tariff leaving the elderly aghast. Two generations from now, people may be eating completely different dishes shrinking the time-honoured diversity among different cultures and geographic regions.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Now that office begins earlier than it used to, breakfast is a rushed affair, which means the cherished cup of filter coffee must now be carried in a mug in the car to be consumed on the commute to work. The cook likes to fill the mug to the brim, despite requests to be less generous, so it requires expertise and a steady hand to balance as the driver goes over speed-breakers and potholes. Traffic jams cause jerky stops and starts likely to lead to spills perilous to the state of one's office clothes. Therefore, the coffee is often tepid by the time one manages to drain the contents of the mug over a smooth stretch of road. — Kishore Singh in Business Standard

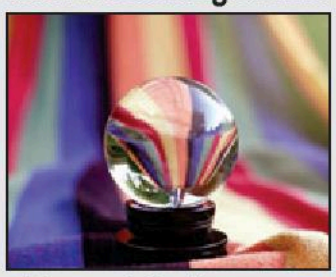
Man sues company after it failed to bring back his estranged wife



Moscow: A Russian company named 'The Sixth Sense,' that allegedly specialises in extra-sensory services, fortune-telling, spiritism and astrology, was recently ordered to pay damages to a client after its psychics and magicians failed to bring back his estrange wife.

After sending a written complaint to 'The Sixth Sense' demanding the return of his wife or his money back, which remained unanswered, the man took the company to Court. After analysing the evidence, The Kuybyshevsky Court in Omsk could find no evidence that any of the promised services had been rendered and ordered the company to pay the plaintiff 400,000 roubles ($6,300) as compensation.

Relax by cuddling cow for $75 an hour

New York: A farm in upstate New York is giving Americans the chance to unwind by getting up close and personal with peaceful bovines for just $75 and hour.

Mountain House Farm, a beautiful 33-acre retreat in New York, has been offering wellness sessions with horses to guests for the past nine years, but recently added cow cuddling on the menu as well. Suzanne Vullers, a Netherlands native who runs the farm with her husband, brought two cows back with her from a visit to her home country, after learning about the hearing about the health benefits of cuddling with cows.

The practice has really taken off as a form of stress relief therapy in European countries like Switzerland and the Netherlands, and Vullers was surprised that it was relatively unknown in the US. So she brought Bonnie and Bella to join their friendly horses and help visitors relax as part of what Mountain House Farm calls the "Horse & Cow experience".

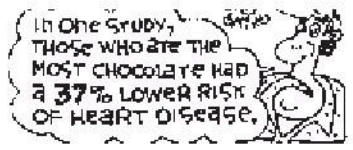
Is the fat in chocolate harmful?



The fat in chocolate is saturated fat from cocoa butter. But it's mostly stearic acid, which does not affect cholesterol levels. It's best to avoid milk chocolate because it has added fat and sugar, which cancel out the benefits of dark chocolate. Milk chocolate has twice the amount of sugar as the darkest chocolate.

Lifts needed in old Court Complex

Sir,

Yesterday morning as I was taking my vehicle inside the old Law Courts Complex compound, I could see a young disabled man struggling to cross the road (because of peak hour traffic) near the Circle to go to the other side of the road into the Court. But I was very happy to see the Traffic Policeman near the Circle immediately swinging into action and helping him cross over to the other side safely.

As I climbed the second floor of the Court building, I saw this man struggling to climb the two floor stairs with his walking stick. Any time he may slip down and risk his life. He may have to do this a number of times while attending to the Court cases.

Hence, I request the Honourable Court authorities to provide Lifts to the floors where clients like women, sick and old people and disabled are benefited by this kind gesture and ensure safety and security of the public who visit the Court to attend to their cases.

Annual Nataka Academy Awards

None from Mysuru make it to the list; Amateur Artistes Association condemns Academy's decision

Mysuru, July 31 (VNS) - Mysuru Amateur Artistes Association has condemned the Karnataka Nataka Academy for failing to recognise the services of theatre artistes from Mysuru district while announcing the Annual Nataka Academy Awards for the year 2019-20. Association Secretary B. Rajesh, in a press release, has said that Mysuru being home for many renowned theatre artistes had been contributing for theatre and its growth over the past few decades. Unfortunately, the Academy has turned a blind eye towards Mysuru thus hurting the sentiments of all theatre persons in the district.

The Association has accused the Academy Chairman and its Members for the step-motherly treatment towards theatre persons in Mysuru and has also urged the Academy not to indulge in such acts in future.

Govt. scraps Tipu Jayanti; Congress sees red

Bengaluru, July 31 (UNI)- A day after proving its majority in the House, the B.S. Yediyurappa-led BJP Government yesterday called off Tipu Jayanti.

The Birth Anniversary of Tipu Sultan, the 18th century king from Mysuru, was made a Government-sponsored annual affair in 2015 by the Congress Government.

In an order, the Department of Kannada and Culture stated that the Hazrath Tipu Sultan Jayanti has been cancelled "with immediate effect." The decision was taken at the Cabinet meeting on Monday, according to the order. The Congress has opposed the decision and called it a mark of the BJP's "anti-minority" stance.

The BJP and Sangh Parivar affiliates had been opposing the decision on celebrating Tipu Jayanti ever since the Congress Government, headed by Siddharamaiah, took a decision to celebrate it, alleging that the Mysuru ruler was a "tyrant" and "anti-Hindu." There were also violent protests in Kodagu and one person had died.

On Monday, senior BJP leader and former Speaker K.G. Bopaiah wrote to the Chief Minister seeking cancellation of Tipu Jayanti. "There have been several protests in various parts of the State against the celebration of Tipu Jayanti, especially in the district of Kodagu. The people of the district are opposed to the celebrations," he had said in the letter. The Government Order is based on Bopaiah's letter.

In 2018, after the Coalition JD(S)-Congress Government was formed, the fourth edition of the Jayanti was held amidst tight security in Srirangapatna, the erstwhile capital of the Mysore region where Tipu ruled.

However, the then Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara had stayed away from the official event. The JD(S) had questioned the rationale behind the Congress marking Tipu Jayanti the previous year, in 2017, in the midst of drought.

Congress sees red

Former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has condemned the scrapping of celebrations terming it as a mark of the BJP's "anti-minority" ideology. "It's myopic to see Tipu as a minority icon alone. He fought the British and contributed immensely to the development of the Mysuru region. For three years, we celebrated it and the people of Karnataka accepted it. To me, he is the first freedom fighter," Siddharamaiah said in Bengaluru.

"The foundation to KRS Dam was laid during Tipu's time and he also worked for the development of industries, agriculture and trade. That is why we started the official celebrations," he said.

Former Ministers Tanveer Sait and B.Z. Zameer Ahmed Khan said the celebrations would continue without Government support. Khan said: "Although it was expected that the BJP Government would scrap the celebrations, we had not realised that they would do it in such haste. We will continue celebrating Tipu Jayanti till our last breath."

Tanveer Sait said, "Definitely, we will continue with the celebrations as we have been doing for many years." He said it was an honour that the State Government celebrated Tipu Jayanti for the last four years.

'Technology is growing at a rapid pace'

Mysuru, July 31- Observing that technology is growing at a very rapid pace, Muzrai Tahsildar Yathiraj Sampath Kumaran has said that vital statistics can be sought at any point of time with the help of advanced technology.

He was speaking at the 'Statistical Day' celebration marking the birth anniversary of renowned statistician Dr. P.C. Mahalanobis at the office of the District Statistical Officer here yesterday.

Highlighting the role of statistics in our daily life, Kumaran said that birth and death certificates are easily available today along with all details and this is because of statistical inputs.

Pointing out that statistics provides vital information regarding all aspects of life, he said that Prof. Mahalanobis, a great statistician that he was, brought out the significance of statistics in almost every field and sector.

ZP Chief Planning Officer M.B. Padmashekar Pandey said that statistics plays a key role in everyday life nowadays. Underlining the importance of getting vital statistical inputs in developing growth models, he suggested all the Department to use the benefits and advantages of statistics.

University of Mysore (UoM) Economics Department faculty Dr. Navita Thimmaiah delivered a talk on 'The objectives of sustainable growth.'

District Statistical Officer N. Krishnamurthy, Assistant Director M. Prakash, Statistical Inspector Divakar, Assistant Statistical Officer K. Rangaswamy, Statistical Planning Officer Rajagopal and others were present.

World Breastfeeding Week from tomorrow

Mysuru, July 31 (MTY&DM)- World Breastfeeding Week will be celebrated in different parts of the city from Aug.1 to 7, according to Indian Academy of Paediatrics, Mysuru District Branch President Dr. Rajeshwari Madappa.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, Dr. Rajeshwari Madappa said that the Week will be celebrated in association with JSS Hospital, MMC&RI and Paediatricians from Mysuru district.

Pointing out that the theme for 2019 World Breastfeeding Week (WBW) is 'Empower Parents. Enable breastfeeding,' she said that the focus will be on supporting both the parents to be empowered, which is vital in order to realise their breastfeeding goals.

Noting that breastfeeding is a wonderful gift for a mother as well as her baby, she said that breastfeeding also provides health benefits for both mothers and babies beyond emotional satisfaction.

Zilla Panchayat (ZP) CEO K. Jyothi will inaugurate WBW at Rajendra Centenary Hall in JSS Hospital premises at 10 am tomorrow (Aug.1).

The WBW will be held at LSS Maternity Hospital in Jayalaskhmipuram on Aug.2, at Sigma Hospital in Sarswathipuram on Aug.3, Narayana Multi-Speciality Hospital at Devanur on Ring Road and at Apollo BGS Hospital on Aug.5 and at Teresian College (Awareness Programme) on Aug.6. The valedictory will take place at MMC&RI Platinum Jubilee Hall in J.K. Grounds at 3 pm on Aug.7, she said and added that MMC&RI Dean and Director Dr. C.P. Nanjaraj, K.R. Hospital Paediatrics Department Head Dr. Sudha Rudrappa, Women and Child Welfare Dept. Deputy Director K. Padma and others will take part in the valedictory.

Indian Academy of Paediatrics Secretary Dr. H.C. Krishnakumar, who also addressed the press meet, explained the practical advantages of breastfeeding. Breastfeeding provides a unique emotional experience for the nursing mother and the baby, he added.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells about keeping rabbits as pets, its diet, life span and health care

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Do rabbits make good pets?

Rabbits have strikingly distinctive personalities. They can be as playful and silly as puppies or kittens, as independent and fascinating as cats, or as loyal and openly affectionate as dogs. And long-time rabbit owners claim that domestic rabbits are, in their own way, every bit as smart as cats and dogs.

Are rabbits low maintenance pets?

Although they don't need to be walked like dogs, rabbits are anything but low-maintenance. Their quarters need daily cleaning, and fresh food and water must be offered daily, including a salad of well-washed, dark-green leafy vegetables. Certain rabbit health problems can become chronic and can require regular veterinary treatment. Unfortunately, veterinarians skilled in rabbit medicine are hard to find.

What is the average life span of a rabbit?

Well-cared-for indoor rabbits can live 7-10 years, and some live into their teens. This is approximately the same life span as some breeds of dogs and requires the same long-term commitment.

How often should I take my rabbit to the vet?

Companion rabbits should be spayed/ neutered by veterinarians experienced in rabbit surgery. This not only reduces hormone-driven behaviours such as lunging, mounting, spraying, and boxing, but also protects females from the risk of uterine cancer, the incidence of which can exceed 50% as rabbits grow older.

Do rabbits love cuddling and get picking up very often?

Although some rabbits tolerate handling quite well, many do not like to be picked up and carried. If rabbits are mishandled they will learn to nip to protect themselves. If they feel insecure when carried they may scratch to get down. Unsprayed / unneutered rabbits often exhibit territorial behaviour such as "boxing" or nipping when their territory is "invaded" by the owner.

What should I feed to the rabbits?

The single most vital component of a rabbit's diet is grass hay, which should be provided daily. Rabbit pellets should be given only in very limited quantities.

Can I leave the rabbit unattended for a day or two?

Rabbits need daily monitoring. Problems that are relatively minor in some species (example, a day or two of anorexia) may be life-threatening in rabbits and may require immediate veterinary attention.

Are dwarf rabbits relatively weaker?

Rabbits have powerful hind legs designed for running and jumping. They need living space that will permit them ample freedom of movement even when they are confined. Dwarf rabbits tend to be more active and energetic than some larger breeds and require relatively more space.

What do I do if my rabbit has fleas?

Even though rabbit fleas are not that common in indoor pet rabbits, they happen occasionally. If your rabbit is infected by fleas he/she might be showing symptoms like self-biting or chewing, excessive scratching and licking. To get rid of the fleas, run a flea comb thoroughly through your rabbit's fur coat and then dip the comb in soapy water, or alcohol, to drown the fleas before combing again. If the condition persists, use a rabbit-safe topical solution on the backside of the rabbit's neck so that he/she does not lick it off, as consumption of solution can lead to side-effects and stomach problems. If you have more than one rabbit then keep them separate so that they don't lick each other's solution off.

Don't use any medication on your pet without getting consultation from your vet first. Avoid flea collars and flea powder as the dosage could be too strong for your rabbit to handle. Your rabbit might end up getting poisoned. Avoid flea dips, as taking a bath is stressful for your rabbit and could send him/her into shock.

Is it alright to feed my rabbit roti, rice and other Indian food items?

No! Rabbits have their own dietary needs and certain food items which they can consume. All cooked food must be avoided. Food with condiments, masala, oil etc. is also bad for your rabbit's health. You should NOT give your rabbit rice or roti, or any wheat based item like bread or pasta. Even raw fruits should only be given in small quantities. Rabbits can enjoy a variety of fresh leafy vegetables such as coriander, spinach, carrot tops or lettuce and also hay. But keep in mind that over-feeding your pet rabbit can have adverse effects.

My rabbit's teeth are misaligned and she is constantly drooling. Should I be concerned?

Misaligned teeth, along with signs of drooling, frequent dropping of food, lack of appetite, wet fur around the mouth etc., can be a sign of something serious like Malocclusions. Teeth are a vital part of the rabbit's digestive system, so, dental problems can lead to more serious conditions. If you see any of these symptoms in your pet rabbit, it is better to get your rabbit checked out by a vet, so that you can catch any problem early and fix the problem before it gets worse.

How frequently and how much should I feed my rabbit?

A rabbit should ideally be fed twice a day, morning and evening, with a balanced diet consisting of unlimited access to hay or grass, a small amount of fruits and fresh leafy vegetables. In addition, a small quantity of good quality rabbit mix or pellets can be added to the diet to make it more nutritional and healthy. These pellets should be given in the ratio of 25g per kg of your rabbit's weight. You can give your rabbit treats, but don't give it too frequently or it will spoil the rabbit's dietary habits. Your rabbit should be fed according to its weight. Keep a track of his/her food intake and weight to ensure he/she does not get over or under weight. If unsure, or ever in doubt, it is best to consult your vet for more detailed information about the best diet for your rabbit and to find out which plants or food items are safe to be consumed by your rabbit.

My rabbit bit me. Is it dangerous? Do I need to get shots?

If your pet rabbit has bitten you, the first step is to properly clean the wound and apply a disinfectant. If the wound is deep, or does not stop bleeding, then it is best to consult your physician. If your rabbit has not been vaccinated then tetanus shot will be necessary. Even if your rabbit is vaccinated, it is recommended to get your tetanus shots periodically (every 10 years), but if you have not had a shot in the past five years then it is safer to get a tetanus injection.

Does experimenting animals saves human lives?

We cannot decide on whether an experiment is justified or not by merely showing that it is of some use. In order to save human lives, animal testing should not be an option. Lives could be saved, and suffering can be stopped by educating people on the importance of avoiding fat and cholesterol, the dangers of smoking, reducing alcohol and other drug consumption, exercising regularly, and cleaning up the environment, than by all the animal tests in the world. The distinction is not between useful and useless experiments, but between barbarous and civilised behaviour. There are some medical problems that can probably only be cured by testing on unwilling people, but we don't do it because we recognise that it would be wrong. We need to extend this same concern to other living, feeling beings, regardless of what species they may be.

Is it important for children to have a pet?

Not only do pets teach children many life skills, they are also wonderful friends. Along with responsibility for a pet comes the building of self-confidence. Learning about the need for exercise for pets to stay healthy, helps children apply the same concepts to their own well-being. Pets tend to bring about a sense of calm for children. Some youngsters are more relaxed around their pets than other humans. Like adults, children turn to their pets when they are feeling sad, angry, or otherwise upset. Magically, pets will bring peace to the situation and provide their humans with unconditional love. There are many life skills children learn as a result of caring for another being and committing to the responsibility. Children become more disciplined, smarter and sensitive according to all scientific studies. They also make many more friends.

Training for DLSA Panel Advocates

Mysuru, July 31 (PM&US)- A two-day training programme for newly-selected Panel Advocates of Mysuru District, organised jointly by District Legal Services Authority (DLSA) and Mysuru Bar Association, was inaugurated at the meeting hall of the new Court Complex in Jayanagar here yesterday.

Totally, 119 Panel Advocates are participating in the programme who are being groomed by Resource Persons.

Inaugurating the programme by watering a sapling, Principal District and Sessions Judge and DLSA Chairman S.K. Vantigodi asked the participating advocates to make full use of the training. He asserted that DLSA offers free legal service to deserving and eligible clients. However, he said that a complaint has been received where a client was charged an illegal fee for the service rendered and it was sorted out later. He asked the Panel Advocates to follow professional ethics and help to hold the judiciary in high esteem.

Addressing the participants, DLSA Member-Secretary B.P. Devamane asked the advocates to give preference to SC/ST, women and the working class and added that DLSA has extended free legal service to clients whose annual income is less than Rs. 3 lakh. He said that legal profession is always a respected one and asked the panel advocates to carry on the trust.

Bar Association President S. Anand Kumar presided.

Advocates M.S. Savithri Ayesha Banu, Aiyanna, K.R. Shivashankar and Nagesh officiated as Resource Persons.

'Digitalisation leads to boom in media industry'

Mysuru, July 31- "Journalism is a different ball game with post internet and digital media. The social networking sites, internet, apps and digital media have laid a path of rapid development in the field of new era media. Emerging technologies have helped various media platforms to evolve and see their own development," said senior journalist and retired Senior General Manager, Tata Consultancy, Shamala Padmanabhan.

She was delivering a lecture on "Print to Digital - The Changing Phase of Media Revolution," organised by the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication at SBRR Mahajana First Grade College, Jayalakshmipuram, here recently.

Speaking on the positive effects of digitalisation on media industry and using illustrative examples, Shamala pointed out that technological advance has made it possible for the newer forms of media which has displaced others.

Online journalism has brought lot of exposure to students. Therefore, media persons should get hybrid training for strategic news from new media to the corporate level, she said.

There are many news media avenues like QR Codes, Facebook page, blogging and text messages which can figure out the correct way to use and learn the new media technologies. Broadcasters, digital media and publishers now have wider prospects because digitalisation has spurred the growth of online journalism, she said.

Shamala Padmanabhan called upon the students to minimise the gap between theory and practice. She emphasised the need to improve writing skills and stressed that the knowledge of multiple languages, computers and apps are a pre-requisite for students of Journalism. Her vast experience in the field of journalism enabled the students to have a good interaction session.

CEO and Academic Advisor Dr. S. R. Ramesh, College Principal Dr. S. Venkataramu, HoD L. Ravi Iyer and Assistant Professor Keshava Murthy were present on the occasion.

H.C. Bharathi rendered the invocation. Brunda welcomed. Sindhu Nagaraj introduced the speaker. Shwetha proposed a vote of thanks. Ravishankar compered the programme.

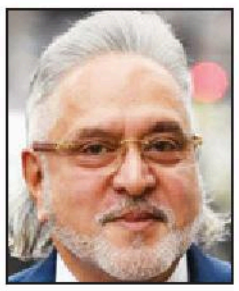
Tale of three business Tycoons

What you don't see with your eyes, don't invent with your tongue.—Jewish Proverb

V.G. Siddhartha
King of Coffee



Vijay Mallya
King of Good Times

P. Rajagopal
King of Dosa

While writing about V.G. Siddhartha, the Big Boss of the omnipresent Cafe Coffee Day with its signature logo of an inverted comma with the legend, who had gone missing in this column yesterday, I had promised to write about three business tycoons who made news in a big way presently.

Let me start with Siddhartha — the King of Coffee, whose body has been found in the Nethravathi River early this morning by fishermen, ending all speculations about his disappearance — Was that kidnapping? Did he fly out of the country? Was he hiding somewhere? Or did he commit suicide? Now, even after finding his body, there is speculation as to whether he really committed suicide etc., etc.

It was interesting to read the letter he had purportedly written to his Board of Directors and Cafe Coffee Day family which surfaced, I do not know how, hours after he went missing. Whatever it is, the letter underscores two important challenges and misfortunes, a majority of Indian successful businessmen face specially since about 20 years. One is the financial troubles and the second is harassment from the Government authorities, specially Income Tax (I-T) and Enforcement Directorate (ED).

The problem Siddhartha faced seemed the same if one reads the letter and assumes it to be a genuine one. I don't think there is reason to doubt it as his death is confirmed. I guess, just as a dead person cannot have any tales to tell, he also has no reason to be dishonest and tell lies in the death-letter. Specially a person of Siddhartha's family background, wealth, education and above all his sense of humanism in treating his nearly 50,000 employees as members of his extended family. In fact, he addressed the letter not only to Directors but also to 'Coffee Day Family.'

Since serious allegations were made against I-T Department, it is understandable the I-T Department should raise doubts of the authenticity of the letter. What else can they do? But it will not take a team of investigators to find out if there is some truth or total truth in what Siddhartha has alleged in the letter. For example, the allegation, "There was a lot of harassment from the previous DG Income Tax in the form of attaching our shares on two separate occasions to block our Mindtree deal and then taking possession of our Coffee Day shares, although the revised returns have been filed by us. It was very unfair and has led to a serious liquidity crunch."

To find out the truth of the allegation, all one has to do is look into the Income Tax papers relating to this case. Records cannot tell lies.

The I-T officials have never been businessmen and are used only to receiving taxes (what else I do not know!). Therefore, they are unable to understand what it is for a businessman to run the business without financial liquidity. Small example: Banks provide OD facility, generally related to the turnover, to help the company maintain its financial liquidity. Siddhartha mentions of attaching of his shares and taking possession of company's Coffee Day shares and its adverse effect in salvaging his problems. Government officials armed with draconian legal provisions to enforce their authority and claims can easily become vindictive and vengeful if the individual officer is lacking in ethical values and deals with citizens without a humane face.

Let's hope the well-paid employees of Siddhartha's company will continue to receive his grace from heaven and continue their jobs under the new management. But then, the fatal question remains: Who killed the owner of Cafe Coffee Day V.G. Siddhartha? Our laws? Our officials who work those laws? GoK.

The second Big Boss I remember on the occasion is the King of Good Times — Vijay Vittal Mallya, known universally as Vijay Mallya, born with a silver spoon. Even at age 63, he is irrepressible and not the one who will give up easily. Whoever drinks Kingfisher Beer, no matter in which part of the world, he is bound to remember Vijay Mallya more for his Court cases in London and less for the Beer which has been keeping its addicts rushing to rest-rooms.

He was indeed Bengaluru's pride with his famous United Breweries. He was a kind of playboy too, who indeed loved good life and expected others to have it with little help from his alcoholic drinks. Oscar Wilde said, "Where wealth accumulates, men decay." But in his case, with wealth he became ambitious.

Naturally, his political ambition took him to the Upper House of the Parliament — Rajya Sabha. He has been the boss of many companies, but the flagship was always United Breweries. Everything looked hunky-dory till when he decided to fly high with his Kingfisher Airlines. I had the good luck to choose this Airlines four or five times and I was much impressed with the freebies the passengers are loaded with. I still use the shaving kit the Airlines gave me and it was of high quality.

Maybe, what goes up must come down. Unable to defy the law of nature, I mean the Law of Gravity, the high flying Kingfisher came down with the same speed with which it went up and got stranded on Mother Earth, throwing many employees into grief and even suicide while Mallya is frequenting the London Law Courts routinely like one visits the restaurant for eating out.

Here, I remember the Big Boss of America's famous Virgin Airlines, owned by Richard Branson, an eccentric kind of an entrepreneur, who has been a role model for many later generation youngsters. Probably, Vijay Mallya thought he could be one up on Richard Branson without realising Richard Branson is a multi-dimensional personality, an intellectual, one who also remembers that no matter how high he may fly, he must come down to earth and that is where he belongs. That is probably the secret of his success. He not only accumulates wealth, but also keeps proper account of it so that he may efficiently appropriate it for running his company in a stable manner while planning for the future growth. Here I remember a joke told to me in a bar.

In England, there is a common frog known as 'Bullfrog' because of its huge size. As it is called bullfrog, the frog deluded itself to believing that it is also a bull like the real bull. It began to leap around with a feeling of pride. Then suddenly, a bull was moving towards the bullfrog. The bullfrog got upset and told the bull, "See, if you are the bull I am the bullfrog, make way for me." The bull did not even hear nor see the frog, it simply stamped over it and moved on. I hope Vijay Mallya is not deluding himself to be Richard Branson of India!

About five years back, when I had gone to Dubai to attend the much-touted Dubai Shopping Festival, my friends in a majority voice screamed "breakfast at Saravana Bhavan," South India's most popular eating place with many branches in countries outside India too. So we all trooped into the hotel after many stops and enquiries to locate the hotel. That was probably the last time I ate at Saravana Bhavan.

However, I began to hear and read about Saravana Bhavan, nay rather its Founder P. Rajagopal — the King of Dosa, all for negative reasons. Fortunately, the Saravana Bhavan chain of restaurants continue to have the patronage because of its high quality of food. Unfortunately, its Founder Rajagopal seemed to have proved Oscar Wilde right when he said, "Where wealth accumulates, men decay." In this case, Rajagopal accumulated crores and crores of rupees and correspondingly there began a decay in his personal life and character. As he prospered, he got married and set up the usual family. However, the doomsday beckoned him.

Then an astrologer advised him to take another woman as his third wife. But there was a catch. The third woman he was coveting was already married. However, Rajagopal got passionate about this married woman, Jeevajothi. She was not only beautiful but also lucky charm as the astrologer said.

It is a quirky presumption on the part of many wealthy people, that any woman would fall for them the moment a proposal is made (which probably is the reason why in Hollywood many famous actresses did not protest when groped by famous actors, directors and producers). Under such a presumption, Rajagopal had asked Jeevajothi's husband to divorce her so that it will facilitate Jeevajothi's marriage with him. This was rejected outright by Jeevajothi and also by her husband.

Rajagopal then resorted to methods most foul. He orchestrated multiple threats, beatings and exorcism against her and her family. By the way, Jeevajothi is the daughter of one of his employees. According to reports, in 2001 after an attempted murder, he successfully orchestrated the murder of her husband Shanthakumar. He was sentenced to life for murder after the case was heard in the Supreme Court in 2019. Rajagopal, however, died on July 18, 2019 at a private hospital in Chennai following a cardiac arrest. There is no medicine for Fate.

Doctors protest NMC Bill

Mysuru, July 31 (RK&DM)- The 24-hour nation-wide protest called by the Indian Medical Association (IMA) today to protest against the National Medical Commission (NMC) Bill which was passed by the Lok Sabha on Monday, had no effect in the city.

Although OPD service in most of private hospitals and nursing homes closed for the day, emergency medical services and in-patient care went on as usual.

OPD services in Government hospitals, primary health centres and community health centres remained as usual.

The IMA had called for a nation-wide stir against the passage of NMC Bill, from 6 am today till 6 am tomorrow (Thursday).

The Mysuru Chapter of IMA in association with Mysuru District Branch of Indian Academy of Paediatrics (IAP) presented a memorandum to ADC B.R. Poornima strongly condemning the NMC Bill, which seeks to replace the Medical Council of India.

The memorandum said that the Government was legalising quackery, endangering the common man's health, besides disregarding the eligibility and rigorous training required to practice modern allopathy medicine.

The delegation was led by IAP Mysuru President Dr. N.S. Rajeshwari, Secretary Dr. H.C. Krishna Kumar, Dr. S.N. Prashanth, Dr. S.N. Mothi, Dr. U.G. Shenoy, Dr. S.L. Ravish and others.

Siddhartha's death raises many questions

Mysuru, July 31- Now that coffee tycoon V.G. Siddhartha's body has been found, the question of why he took his own life is haunting not only his family but even the public. This has led to many theories and questions.

He kept on apologising

V.G. Siddhartha's driver (Basavaraj Patil) told the Police that while travelling towards Mangaluru, his boss had called someone and kept on saying 'I am sorry.'

Now the question is who had Siddhartha called and why was he profusely apologising? Also was he talking to the same person when he exited the car at the Nethravathi Bridge?

Then there is the question of the people mentioned without their names in his last letter where he has mentioned of an equity partner who was pressuring him and also an Income Tax officer who he says made life difficult for him.

Siddhartha's debts

Cafe Coffee Day (CCD), founded by Siddhartha, had total borrowings of Rs. 6,547.38 crore as of March 2019. At the end of December 2018, Coffee Day's overall revenue was Rs. 996.51 crore with a net profit of Rs. 73.15 crore. Siddhartha had cash in hand after selling Mindtree shares for Rs. 3,269 crore with a profit of Rs. 2,858 crore and his gross debt increased 63.54 percent from 4.003.47 crore this March. The Company's gross debt had spiked 63.54 per cent from Rs. 4,003.47 crore in March 2019.

Selling of Mindtree shares

The founders of Mindtree were confident of Siddhartha not selling his stakes to lose their hold on the company. Siddhartha had to sell shares because of a liquidity squeeze triggered by default in payments by IL&FS in August.

I-T Department denies

Income Tax Department yesterday refuted charges of harassment harassing Siddhartha and said that its probe against the Coffee King was done as per the provisions of Income Tax Act.

The I-T department said that Siddhartha fetched Rs. 3,200 crore from the sale of Mindtree shares, but paid only Rs. 46 crore out of total Rs. 300 crore Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT).

The officials have also claimed that the signature of Siddhartha on the last letter under his name "does not match" with records.

CCD shares plunge

Shares of Coffee Day Enterprises continued to plunge even on Day-2 following the death Siddhartha. Share prices fell by 20 percent in the early trading session this morning to hit a 52-week low. Prices of shares had also fallen by 20 percent yesterday soon after the news about Siddhartha broke.

A tip-off from a local fisherman, who saw someone falling from a bridge on Monday evening, helped officials narrow down the search for the body. The fisherman, Symond D'Souza told the media that he tried to help the man who fell, but couldn't due to heavy rain.

A massive team of 100 fire-fighters, 100 policemen, 50 divers, 50 fishermen and 30 boats, National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), Coast Guard and Home Guard personnel, were involved in the search operations.

Locals who identified Siddhartha's body said that based on the dress description, shoes, they could identify the deceased. The facial features of the victim were still identifiable, they said.

Later, Siddhartha's body was shifted to Wenlock Government Hospital in Mangaluru where the post-mortem was conducted before the body was handed over to family. A large number of people had gathered at the Wenlock Hospital to pay their last respects to India's Coffee King.

Later, the body was shifted to Chikkamagaluru in an ambulance. According to family sources, Siddhartha's last rites would be held at the family estate 'Chethana' located in Chethanahalli at Mudigere in Chikkamagaluru today.

His body will also be kept for public viewing at Chikkamagaluru. Meanwhile, residents of Chethanahalli observed a bandh as a mark of respect to the departed soul.

Siddhartha's family members including S.M. Krishna, Prema Krishna, wife Malavika and other relatives left for Chikkamagaluru this morning from Bengaluru to perform the last rites. Krishna along with his wife and former Minister D.K. Shivakumar left Bengaluru in a private chopper to Chikkamagaluru for Siddhartha's last rites.

Tributes pour in

Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, chairperson and MD of Biocon said, "It is a tragic end to a great success story. It is really hard to imagine someone who created India's Starbucks can take his own life."

Kunal Bahl, Co-founder and CEO of the e-commerce platform Snapdeal called Siddhartha 'an absolute gentleman' and said that he will always see his legacy as a very successful entrepreneur.

Karnataka Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa expressed shock and paid heartfelt condolences on his death. "My heart goes with the bereaved family and may God rest his soul in peace," he said in a tweet.

Karnataka Congress slammed the ruling BJP and blamed the party for creating an atmosphere not conducive for growing businesses. Former Karnataka CM Siddharamaiah remembered Siddhartha's contribution to the state and the country.

Several people on Twitter also spoke about how some of their fondest days and dates were spent in Cafe Coffee Day, one of the very first coffee chains to have started in India.

Be it hanging out with friends and family, or a wish for something more refined than regular tea, CCD was the go-to place for many. Cafe Coffee Day has been a happy place, a place to chill, hang out with friends or businesses meet. A lot can happen over coffee, wrote a netizen.

CCD declares holiday

All Cafe Coffee Day (CCD) outlets across the country were closed today as a mark of respect. There are about 1,750 CCD outlets spread across 240 cities in the country.

Offices of the CCD, including the Coffee Global Enterprises and the Amalgamated Bean Coffee (ABC), were also closed. The company also declared holiday for workers and employees of all coffee estates in Chikkamagaluru, Hassan and Kodagu.

Digitised version of Bhavan's Journal launched

By Dr. A.V. Narasimha Murthy

Kulapati Kanhaiyyalal Maneklal Munshiji (1887-1971) deserves reverence for two reasons. The first is the establishment of Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB) worldwide. The second is the starting of a Journal.

One day Munshiji was sitting in his office and Marvadi businessman walked into Munshiji's office in Mumbai. Munshiji asked him the purpose of his visit. He explained that he has some money which he wanted to donate. Munshiji asked this Marvadi the amount he wants to donate. The Marvadi gentleman said that it was Rs. 6 lakh. Munshiji did not believe this because in those days Rs. 6 lakh was a huge amount. Munshiji wanted to test him further and asked him to come after a month.

Exactly after a month, that Marvadi came and met Munshiji who asked how much money he has brought now. The Marvadi replied that it was Rs. 8 lakh and during this one month he has earned two more lakhs. Understanding his seriousness, Munshiji accepted Rs. 8 lakh and asked the Marvadi what was the purpose of this gift. The Marvadi replied that an institution for Bharatiya education and culture may be opened. This is how Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan took birth.

Munshiji thought that unless it gets a permanent print media,

K.M. Munshi

many noble thoughts will vanish. Then he thought of Bhavan's Journal, which is a fortnightly and contains articles written by eminent personalities who have made a name for themselves. The first page is a permanent feature with the title 'Sage Speak' which includes one page summary written by Babu Rajendra Prasad, Swami Brahmananda and others.

Under the title Kulapativani, K.M. Munshiji enriches knowledge on environment and other topics. Then there is a page reserved for the President of the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan, Surendralal G. Mehta. Usually there are articles written by Mahatma Gandhi himself or written by others on the principles followed by Gandhiji.

Normally there will be about 20 to 22 articles. Excerpts of 'Discovery of India' by Jawaharlal Nehru are normally included in every Journal. Contemporary disasters also find a place here.

Till recently it was believed that music was for enjoyment of a small number of persons. But this concept has changed. It was in Mysore where Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Swamiji started the concept of music as a therapy to cure many types of illnesses. Such articles are found in Bhavan's Journal.

The Bhavan's Journal is useful practically to know all aspects of Indian life, literature and culture. Because of its richness, about 70-80,000 life members all over the country enjoy reading this Journal which has completed about 65 years.

In keeping with present trend of digitisation, all the volumes of Bhavan's Journal were digitised by Arjun and Prof. Yogananda of Sriranga Digitals based in Srirangapatna. After the digitisation, BVB Bengaluru Kendra Chairman N. Ramanuja invited former President Pranab Mukherjee to release the digitised version of Bhavan's Journal in Bengaluru recently.

The gathering consisted of many distinguished persons including Nazareth, a true Gandhian. K.G. Raghavan, H.N. Suresh, Director BVB, Bengaluru, Justice M. N. Venkatachalaiah, Sankaran Kutty, Editor, Bhavan's Journal, K.N. Ramaswamy, Director, BVB, Chennai Kendra, were also present. Pranab Mukherjee paid rich homage to Kulapati K. M. Munshiji and remembered that he too had written some articles in this Journal.

Bharat Ratna to be conferred on Pranab Mukherjee on Aug.8

New Delhi, July 31- Former President Pranab Mukherjee will be awarded Bharat Ratna on August 8.

Pranab Mukherjee

Mukherjee, India's 13th President was selected for Bharat Ratna, India's highest civilian award, in January 2019.

The announcement had been made in a statement issued by the Rashtrapati Bhavan, which also said the award would be given posthumously to social activist Nanaji Deshmukh and noted Assamese singer Bhupen Hazarika.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has already congratulated Mukherjee for his decades of service to the country. "Pranab Da is an outstanding statesman of our times. He has served the nation selflessly and tirelessly for decades, leaving a strong imprint on the nation's growth trajectory. His wisdom and intellect have few parallels. Delighted that he has been conferred the Bharat Ratna," he tweeted.

Pranab Mukherjee, who is popularly known as 'Pranab Da', had served as the President of the country from 2012 to 2017. The 83-year-old Pranab Da is one of the most respected Congressmen.

The other Presidents, who had been conferred the Bharat Ratna include Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, Rajendra Prasad, Zakir Hussain and V.V. Giri. After a long gap, it is Pranab Mukherjee who has been added to this list.

Dr. Kambara to deliver Sardar Panikkar Memorial Lecture at RIE tomorrow

Doping violation

Prithvi Shaw suspended

New Delhi, July 31- Indian cricketer Prithvi Shaw was on Tuesday suspended for eight months for doping violation, the Board of Control For Cricket in India (BCCI) said in a statement.

According to BCCI, Shaw, registered with Mumbai Cricket Association, had inadvertently ingested a prohibited substance, which can be commonly found in cough syrups. Shaw's 8-month period of ineligibility will be deemed to have started to run from Mar.16, 2019 to Nov.15, according to the release.

BCCI had earlier said, "Shaw had provided a urine sample as part of the BCCI's anti-doping testing program during the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy match on Feb.22, 2019 in Indore. His sample was subsequently tested and found to contain Terbutaline — that is prohibited both In & Out of Competition in WADA Prohibited List of Substances."

Andhra Cricket Assn. takes upper hand over KSCA XI

Bengaluru, July 31- Andhra Cricket Association (CA) took control of the proceedings at the end of the third day of the four-day semi-final against KSCA XI at the Alur Grounds in Bengaluru, in the Dr. (Capt.) K. Thimmappiah Memorial Cricket Tournament-2019, played at Alur Grounds here yesterday by setting a target of 319 — to win for KSCA XI. Resuming at their overnight score of 4 for two in five overs, Andhra CA rallied well to post a total of 280 in 92.5 overs. After being reduced to 123 for six at one stage, an excellent rear-guard action by the seventh wicket pair of Shoib Mohd. Khan (87, 139b, 13x4) and G. Manish (76, 125b, 9x4, 1x6), who added 147-vital runs, helped their team's cause. Earlier, Ricky Bhui scored a useful 57 (125b, 6x4, 1x6).

Left-arm spinner and Mysuru lad J. Suchith was the pick of the KSCA XI bowlers taking four for 58. Prasidh M. Krishan, David Mathias and M.G. Naveen took the two wickets each.

An interesting day's game is in the offing with both the teams keen to make a match of it.

Mysuru part of pilot project of Athletic Federation of India

Mysuru, July 31- In order to ensure that more youth and children take part in the track and field activities at the grass-root level, the Athletic Federation of India (AFI) has decided to monitor the activities at the district-level and provide financial assistance to conduct athletic activities in the select districts.

The AFI could activate only 500 districts out of more than 700 districts existing in the country. AFI has prepared a list of 130 districts in various States and Union territories which will be part of the pilot project.

The Mysore District Athletic Association, which takes care of the Mysuru district athletic activities, stands first in Karnataka State as per the AFI listing.

It is followed by Udupi, Shivamogga, Mangaluru, Dharwad, Bengaluru Rural and Bengaluru Urban.

AFI will be providing financial assistance to conduct the district level activities to the listed districts after it is approved by the AFI Committee.

Kadakola PHC turns blind eye to patients' woes

Medical Officer and Pharmacist shoo away patients to Mysuru

Mysuru, July 31 (PM&SD) - All the facilities that are available in Kadakola Primary Health Centre (PHC) have been rendered useless due to apathy of medical officers and other support staff working here, according to report. General public have been heard here saying, almost all the time, if a patient visits this PHC, he/she would be sent to what is termed as 'Doddaspathre' by common folk, which means Government Hospital in Mysuru city.

Feeling something fishy, Kannada Geleyara Balaga of Kadakola have complained to the CEO of Zilla Panchayat and District Health Officer. They feel that the staff working in PHC might have struck a deal with city's private hospitals and hence are turning the patient's away without giving any treatment.

The 'Doddaspathre' in the city, K.R. Hospital, as well as Cheluvamba Hospital for Women and Children are the two major Government-run Hospitals in city. These two are always crowded with huge number of patients and relatives visiting them for various ailments. One reason behind such a huge crowd here might be that the Government Hospitals and PHCs in Mysuru and surrounding districts are not functioning properly. Probably, they are shooing the patients off.

Hence, people of neighbouring districts like Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Hassan and Kodagu have to either catch a bus to visit these two govt. hospitals in the city or go to any private hospitals. In fact, the Kadakola PHC has all the facilities to treat common ailments and take care of pregnant women including labour and delivery.

The only one readily available facility for those visiting Kadakola PHC is 108 ambulance, which would take them to city govt. hospital. Most of the time, patients would not even get first-aid or front-line treatment for their acute ailments or chronic illnesses.

Public residing in Kadakola are furious about such sad state of affairs and have demanded regular inspection by District and Taluk Health Officers and enquiry into such careless attitude of staff working in the PHC.

In this regard, Kannada Geleyara Balaga has contacted CEO Jyothi and have raised their concerns about the Kadakola PHC staff. As Kadakola is nearer to the highway, if properly managed, patients can be treated and nursed in the PHC itself rather than directing them to the city.

Kadakola PHC has all the basic health facilities including 24-hour health services and other prerequisites during labour and delivery.

The PHC, which was functioning properly earlier, has become useless since 2017. The Medical Officer and other staff are to be blamed for such sad state of affairs. Other than the Medical Officer, 18 support staff have been deputed here to work with well-equipped medical facility and labour room as well as 24 Asha workers for support.

But most of the patients, in particular pregnant women are normally suggested to visit other hospital and sent away by 108 ambulance.

Members of Kannada Geleyara Balaga allege that one Vinayaka, who is working as pharmacist at Kadakola PHC for the past 17 years, has all the decision making authority over other staff. He sends all the patients to Mysuru rather than treating them here itself.

Lack of coordination among officers?

After discussing with Zilla Panchayat CEO about gross negligence on their part in performing their duties, she had on July 6 ordered in writing an enquiry by the District Health Officer and had instructed the District Family Welfare Officer and Taluk Nodal Officer Siraj Ahmed to conduct an enquiry and report within seven days. But Siraj Ahmed is on a tour. As there seems to be obvious delay in regard to taking immediate action on such negligent office staff, one would wonder whether there is lack of coordination among the officers?

Staff strength at PHC

Other than the Medical Officer working at the PHC, the staff include a Second Division Assistant, Senior Male Health Assistant, Senior Female Health Assistant, Pharmacist and Junior Lab Technician, four Junior Male Health Assistants and four Junior Female Health Assistants. Apart from them, four Nurses and a D-Group Employee are also serving here with 24 Asha Workers for support.

Number of pregnant women treated

As per the information garnered through RTI, in 2017, 411 pregnant women have been treated here and only 21 have delivered babies here. Out of 435 pregnant women treated here in the PHC in 2018, only 7 have delivered. As of June 2019, out of 139 pregnant women treated here, only 6 have given birth here and the remaining have been sent to other private hospitals.

CM annuls appointments to State-run Boards

Yediyurappa

Bengaluru, July 31- Hours after he won the Trust Vote in the Floor of the Assembly on Monday, Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa annulled all appointments made to various State-controlled Boards, Corporations, authorities and Commissions.

With the new Chief Minister's decision, the appointments to nearly 30 Boards and Corporations, made by the previous Congress-JD(S) Coalition Government, stands cancelled.

Chief Secretary T.M. Vijay Bhaskar issued a note on Monday, mentioning that Presidents, Vice-Presidents, Directors and Members, appointed or nominated to all State-run Bodies, stood cancelled.

Meanwhile, B.S. Yediyurappa on Monday appointed retired IAS Officer M. Lakshminarayana as his advisor.

Lakshminarayana, a 1987 batch officer, had retired as Additional Chief Secretary a few years ago.

He had earlier served as Yediyurappa's Principal Secretary.

Government postpones KMF Chairman's Election

Bengaluru, July 31- In a shock to former PWD Minister H.D. Revanna, new Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa postponed the polls to elect the Chairman of the Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) just a couple of hours before the election was to take place on Monday.

Revanna, who was very keen on becoming the Chairman of KMF, had reportedly 'hijacked' four Directors belonging to the Congress on Sunday.

But the KMF's incumbent Chairman Nagaraj, a Congressman, appealed CM B.S. Yediyurappa for a postponement, following which the Government deferred the elections to the prestigious Milk Body.

The KMF Chairman post was a bone of contention between H.D. Revanna and Bheema Nayak, a Congress MLA from Ballari district.

Cane crushing begins at Chamsugar Factory

Maddur, July 31- After a long wait, crushing of sugarcane resumed at Chamsugar Factory in Bharatinagar of the taluk on Sunday.

Speaking on the occasion, the Factory Vice-President Mani said that the dues of farmers who had supplied sugarcane to the Factory last year, will be cleared by Aug.15.

Maintaining that the Factory will stick on to the Government guidelines on cane price, Mani said that the Factory had paid the cane suppliers in two instalments last year. But this time, the farmers will be paid in full at once, he added.

Observing that cane supplies to the Factory may see a dip this time due to lack of rainfall, he expressed confidence that the Factory may witness a rise in supplies if there was good rainfall in the coming days.

Appealing the farmers to forget the past, wherein the Factory had defaulted on timely clearance of dues, Mani reassured the sugarcane growers that money will be paid to them in a single instalment.

He further said that farmers have already started brining sugarcane to the Factory in lorries, bullock carts, tractors etc.

Earlier, special pujas were performed and the first lorry, tractor, bullock cart to arrive at the Factory were given gifts.

Channarayapatna Sugar Factory General Manager Nagaraj, Deputy General Manager M. Ravi, Chamsugar officials Manimaran, Sudheendra Katti, Nithish and others were present during the occasion.

WORD OF THE DAY

Undergird

Pronunciation: un-der-GERD.
Meaning: To make secure underneath; to form the basis or foundation of : strengthen, support.
Origin: The English verb gird means, among other things, "to encircle or bind with a flexible band." When undergird first entered English in the 16th century, it meant "to make secure underneath," as by passing a rope or chain underneath something (such as a ship). That literal sense has long since fallen out of use, but in the 19th century undergird picked up the figurative "strengthen" or "support" sense that we still use. Gird and consequently undergird both derive from the Old English geard, meaning "enclosure" or "yard." Gird also gives us girder, a noun referring to a horizontal piece supporting a structure.
Example: "The organ tones that undergirded much of her recent work suggested a secular version of the church nave. Here, the walls close in and we're transported somewhere deceptively plain, to what might be an afternoon recital in someone's home." — Thea Ballard, Pitchfork.

THE ODD WORD

Querulous
Peevish

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Darkest hour is just before the dawn

Meaning: There is hope, even in the worst of circumstances.
Origin: This is one of those improving proverbs that are the stock in trade of the contemporary glut of self-help manuals and talking therapies. The darkest hour has long been used figuratively to mean 'the lowest ebb' and there are many such examples of it in print dating from the late 1700s. The English theologian and historian Thomas Fuller appears to be the first person to commit the notion that 'the darkest hour is just before the dawn' to print. His religious travelogue A Pisgah-Sight Of Palestine And The Confines Thereof, 1650, contains this view: It is always darkest just before the Day dawneth. The source of the proverb isn't known. It may be Fuller himself, or he may have been recording a piece of folk wisdom. In 1858, much later than Fuller of course, Samuel Lover attributed the notion to the Irish, in Songs and Ballads:
There is a beautiful saying amongst the Irish peasantry to inspire hope under adverse circumstances: "Remember," they say, "that the darkest hour of all, is the hour before day."

QUOTE BOX

We can easily forgive a child who is afraid of the dark; the real tragedy of life is when men are afraid of the light.— Plato
